ANOTHER LOGGER MURDERED.

John Moslo, a Croatian, aged 45, disappeared Sunday, Sept. 7th. He was drunk and had a large sum of money on him. He was at camp 46, two miles up the North Fork of Cranberry. On the 16th his body was found beside a hemlock log. He had been killed in a peculiar manner; possibly while asleep. His assailant had cut a round wood sprout, made a withe, and put a tourniquet around the neck and twisted until the neck was broken. The withe was around the man's neck when found. The pockets of the dead man were hanging wrong side out, and had been rifled. The victim was thought to have had $800 in cash on hand and a check for $90.

The check was cashed the next day at Richwood after disappearance by another Croatian, who was the last person seen with the dead man on the day he disappeared. Efforts are being made to locate the man who cashed the check.—Times.

HOW DUNCAN WAS KILLED.

The Pocahontas Times, published at Marlinton, gives this account of the killing of Geo. W. Duncan at Marlinton on Nov. 11th.

Geo. W. Duncan was shot and killed by Policeman Brown L. Galford Tuesday night, Nov. 11th. Duncan was some what under the influence of whiskey, and the policeman attempted to arrest him. There was a scuffle, and Galford shot him. The ball took effect below the ribs to the left of the breast bone, and severed the big artery. Duncan lived possibly fifteen minutes, but never spoke. The scene of the shooting was directly in front of the postoffice door, the time being about eleven o'clock at night. There were no eye witnesses.

SHOOTS HIS DAUGHTER.

The Wyoming county papers give meager details of a deplorable tragedy on Elk Lick as follows:

Andrew Bradbury, an old man living on Elk Lick, having taken exceptions to one of his daughters attending school, attempted to whip her with a cane. The girl resisted his efforts, and finally succeeded in wresting the cane from him. This enraged the old man, and he immediately procured a gun and and shot her through the hip. The gun wound was so serious that the victim had to be taken to the Welch hospital. Bradbury's apprehension has not been reported.

SHOT FROM AMBUSH.

Anse E. Hatfield, proprietor of the Urias Hotel at Matewan, Mingo county, while sitting on the hotel porch Saturday evening, Aug 14th, was shot from ambush. The rifle bullet passed through his chest and shattered the jawbone of Dr. Edward Simpkins, who was sitting near Hatfield. Both men were taken to a Huntington Hospital. Mr. Hatfield died there Sunday morning. He was one of the witnesses before the grand jury which investigated the Matewan massacre last May. It is said that on his testimony some of the miners were indicted. As he left the court house he received a warning that he had not long to live. Dr. Simpkins is a coal mine physician. He is recovering. Fred Burgraf is held by the state police charged with Hatfield's murder.

Murderer Arrested in Pocahontas County.

We learn that one of the members of the mob engaged in the murder of E. D. Atchison, lately confined in the jail of Highland county, Va., has been arrested and lodged in jail in Huntersville, Pocahontas county. The Governor of Virginia has issued a proclamation offering a reward of $100 to any person for the arrest and conviction of any and each of the murderers of Atchison. The names of those engaged in the murder, as shown by the verdict of the Coroner's jury, are as follows: H. M. Tomlinson, J. A. Lightner, J. A. Chestnut, Giles Gum, Joe Beathe, Robert Warwick, Luther Wade, L. N. Gibson, James Beeson, and one other unknown person. It is to be hoped that every member of this cowardly gang may be speedily arrested and brought to justice, to answer for their brutal outrage upon law and order and the murder of a defenceless prisoner.

P. S. Since the above was put in type, a correspondent, writing from Marlin's Bottom, Pocahontas county, gives us the particulars of the rescue, from the jail of that county, of the prisoner, John A. Lightner, referred to above. The story of this daring and dastardly rescue is told in another column by our correspondent.

ER.—This dangerous disease has made its appearance in Union, and in a few days it has killed fatally. Henry Frye, son of Mrs. Mary Frye, died on Tuesday last and died on Wednesday about 6 o'clock. Two other family are ill with the same disease. The daughter of Mr. Preston died several days ago, but was recovering. Two children (colored,) have been afflicted—one is convalescent, the other is sick. The appearance of this disease has caused much excitement of the Board of Education, both white and colored yesterday. Every precaution is being taken to prevent its spread. Chman, 18th inst.

Arrested in Pocahontas County.

One of the members of the grand jury, who investigated the murder of E. D. Atchison, was arrested in the jail of Highland county, and lodged in the jail of Pocahontas county. The grand jury has issued a proclamation of $100 to any person who will give information of any and each of the persons who were convicted of the murder, as shown by the coroner's jury, are as follows: J. A. Lightner, J. A. Gum, Joe Beathe, Robert Wade, L. N. Gibson, and one other unknown person. It is hoped that every member of the gang may be speedily arrested to justice, to answer for their crimes upon law and order and to be a fenceless prisoner.

Above was put in type, a clipping from Marlin's Bottom, which gives us the particulars of the murder in the jail of that county. John A. Lightner, referred to in this daring and dastardly deed in another column by

S. T. Steele and Rev. Wm. L. Lynch, of Virginia; and F. F. Neel, Monroe.

Rescued from Jail.

On Friday morning last Deputy Sheriff Hill, of Pocahontas county, brought to Huntersville John A. Lightner, one of the persons sworn to by the jailor and guard of Highland county, Va., as a member of the mob who lynched E. D. Atchison at Monterey on the 5th inst.

On Saturday morning Justice Lockridge committed Lightner to Jail to await a requisition of the Governor of Virginia. On Saturday evening, about 9 o'clock—giving the statement of S. B. Lowry, sr., the jailor of Pocahontas—a man named Zeb Ailstock, a citizen of and well-known in Pocahontas, knocked at the door of the Jail and the jailor asked him in. They sat there talking together for some time and after awhile Ailstock got up and started out, asking the jailor to step outside as he wanted to speak to him privately. As soon as they had reached the outside of the door Ailstock picked up a double-barreled shotgun he had left there on entering and leveled it at the jailor and demanded the keys to the cell in which Lightner was confined. When the jailor produced them he, with the gun still leveled on the jailor, ordered him to unlock the door. The jailor did so, and out stepped the prisoner, and the two men soon mounted on a horse left near by and galloped away.

The Governor of Virginia has offered one hundred dollars reward for the capture and conviction of each and any of the persons who murdered Atchison, and a number of them have been lurking in this county, and we hear are defying arrest. The names of those who were identified and sworn to by the jailor and guard of the Highland Jail are John A. Lightner, James Beeson, Joseph Beathe, Henry Tomlinson (who is a Justice of the Peace,) Robert Warrick, Lewis Gibson, Giles Gum, Anderson Chestnut and Luther Wade. Lightner, the prisoner who was rescued, is supposed to be in the western part of this county or in Randolph. He is about 37 years of age, a little bald in front, curly light hair, short curly whiskers, lips when he talks, wore a cap, blue flannel coat, brown overalls, cowhide boots, had an overcoat and a pair of saddle-pockets with him containing some account books. Sid. Ruckman, for the stabbing of whom Atchison was hung, is about well, and it is said never was seriously injured.

side, and the towns of Green Bank and Dunmore are composed almost entirely of houses erected in the last few years. Clover Lick, Big Spring, Edray, Marlin's Bottom, Mill Point and Hillsboro have more than tripled the number of dwelling houses, churches and stores, and the buildings erected are of an ornamental and substantial nature. Thousands of acres of land formerly in the woods have been cleared, fine mills abound, and a general air of prosperity, which is real and substantial, is everywhere found. No business man has failed in the county for a long time, and the health of our people is excellent. Our roads are being improved, and in a short time our streams will be spanned by bridges. Not a murder has occurred in this county for over ten years, and what crime has occurred has been checked with promptness that had the desired effect. Pocahontas county is far from being at the tail end of the fifty-four counties in the State.

The following found in a memorandum book lying on the ground near the body explains the cause of the rash act :

" Loss of all my property and sickness afterwards causes me to do all this. I am in a state of insanity and the loss of all has caused me to do this Will the good people of Covington help a family so in distress. I wish when I was a soldier that I would have been killed in some of the battles in the Shenandoah Valley where I was born and stayed until I was 23 years old. I left there and went in to West Virginia and done well until I was overcome with providential misfortune and then drifted through Greenbrier county and got here and went to work at paper mill and got sick and can't do now. Do what you can for my poor little children to get them educated and warm clothing for the winter and send to friends so they will be taken care of."

JEROME KELLISON, who has been a fugitive from justice since 1899, was captured Monday, the 6th inst., at Bridgeport, Harrison county, this State, and has been lodged in jail at Marlinton, Pocahontas county. The crime for which he is held is the murder of Mrs. Julia Ann Simmons, of Pocahontas county, September, 1899. He went to her house one evening with a companion and raised a disturbance. Mrs. Simmons, a very respectable woman, was expostulating with him, trying to get him to go away and not swear and blackguard in the presence of her daughters, when he shot her through the heart, in the presence of a number of witnesses. He made good his escape. In the last two years he has gone by the name of Williams, Anderson and Scott. Kellison will be tried at the June term of the Pocahontas Circuit Court.
